PMI Australia Awards 2011 - Nominations Are Now Open

Do you know or have within your organisation a very successful and well managed project based in Australia? Perhaps you managed it! Do you know a Project Management Professional that has made a significant contribution to the development of PMI in Australia and internationally or a young Project Manager who shows skills beyond their years?

This is a fantastic opportunity to gain recognition for your team, yourself and your organisation. Nomination alone marks the organisation, team and project manager above the average and will help in future advancement through visibility of you and the quality of your work. Encouraging and helping a colleague to nominate is a tangible way of publicly acknowledging the quality of their work. Your organisation will also benefit through recognition within the Project Management community of the quality of project work being undertaken.

Stakeholder Management Workshop, 12 Jul 2011

Stakeholder management is an essential, yet often overlooked element of project management that can prove the difference between a quality project completed on time, on budget and to specification and a project that fails to deliver on any of its promises.

Dr Lynda Bourne will deliver the Successful Stakeholder Management Workshop using her award winning methodology, Stakeholder Circle, for stakeholder management:-

- Identify stakeholders and understand their needs
- Prioritize stakeholders
- Map their profile
- Develop an engagement strategy
- Monitor changes over time and across major change points in the project.
